To attend by telephone, call 1-877-735-7186. No PIN is required. Please mute your telephone unless and until called upon to participate.

Undocketed. Commission to host a public technical conference to discuss issues related to public utilities providing water service in Wyoming. All interested persons are invited to attend and participate.

This meeting is the first of a series to determine whether statutory, rules, or procedural changes are necessary or desirable to reduce the burden of regulation on public utilities providing water service in Wyoming, and if so, to develop, consistent with the continued provision of safe, adequate and reliable service, recommendations for legislation, rule changes, or other action by the Wyoming Public Service Commission.

Topics of discussion are expected to include:

- Perceived and experienced issues with the current statutory and rules framework and Commission practices;
- Identification and ranking of common concerns and issues;
- The potential for addressing higher-ranking identified common concerns and issues through application of the "best practices" described in the National Regulatory Research Institute (NRRI) paper, "Small Water Systems: Surveying State Utility Commission Best Practices;" and,
- The "additional policy tools" described in Section III of the NRRI paper.
